MAR 18 1910 Removed because of
rub ac onion grass - by J. E. H. 02/11/09

Plot 1/10 of an acre on upper side Kling st of Wilcox Pac factory began Aug 1901
Experiment to prevent rotting of taro.
Soil put in proper shape. 5 bbls lime added & mixed with soil Cuttings planted after off of lime. No water applied for one week. Shortage of water. Had very little water for one month. Plants were slow in starting, but after well started they grew well showing little signs of rot. The leaves had a good strong bluish green color.
Oct 22. On application of Bone meal 75 lbs $NH_3 = 4.89$
$P_2O_5 = 22.80$ $\frac{1}{2} P_2O_5$ available
Oct 22. taro looks much better than that surrounding Taro in adjoining patch planted about Sept 1st does not show nearly as satisfactory growth as that of Expt Plot.

~~Oct~~ Nov 1 ~~Sept 1~~ Expt plot at Wilcox's growing well leaves have a healthy green color, but not the bluish green of Oct 15 & Oct 22, plants from middle of patch examined for rot but no signs up to date. There seems to be a tendency to grow to tops, but root system on some plants is very large in ~~so~~ some cases, unusually long rootlets. Good care is given patch. About Nov 15 apply a potash fertilizer.
Height of plants ~~Nov~~ = 2 ft from root.

Nov 11 Plants growing well, losing to some extent the ~~rich~~ bluish green color of the leaves, plenty of water fertilize with a potash fertilizer soon.

Nov 14 Taro looking well, not as thrifty as earlier. Some died leaves

Nov 20 Went for fertilizer for taro patch 20 lbs. NaNO3. 2 lbs taro needs more lime & needs a potash salt. It still looks better than any around it. Color good. Am under the impression that taro is planted too thickly

Nov 21 Put fertilizer on taro NaNO3 20 lbs. Weeded through patch to middle to detritus

Nov 25 Patch looks well, but the number of dead leaves seems to be increasing. Examined all the surrounding patches personally, found that our patch is not sending out young shoots as soon as the lower patch. This is quite natural, owing to so much fertilization. While weeding in the different patches I found that in some of the patches the plants seemed to be more deeply rooted than others. Ours was about average

Dec 2 Put on part of patch #2804.
Taro looks well, but a number of leaves dead & should be cut off. Collected samples of taro slips which were to be planted. They show very few eyes & are somewhat diseased. Miserable slips for planting. They will be planted immediately in the same patch (note this as one probable reason for disease).
Note too that the water will shut off for a little while also dead leaves of taro cut

Dec 5 Had dead leaves cut off taro
Looks well

From Ancon, Canal Zone, Panama. Presented by H. F. Schultz. Reed Jan. 18, 1909.

The "akee" a beautiful African tree introd. into the W. Indies. Valued in Jamaica as a richly flavored & wholesome ~~food~~ fruit. The bright, fleshy arillus is the part eaten. Should not be eaten if the least decayed. The fruit is prepared in various ways, stewed in milk, & afterwards browned in butter in a frying pan. It is also commonly eaten boiled & mixed with salt fish, onions & tomatos as a breakfast food
